EQE 2021 – Important information from the Supervisory Board

The European qualifying examination (EQE) 2021 is planned to be conducted online.

A working group composed of EPO and epi representatives has been set up to work out the arrangements for next year’s EQE. Their aim is to ensure that the examination can be conducted in an orderly manner in a safe environment and to guarantee fair conditions for all candidates. The Supervisory Board is in close contact with the working group and oversees all its tasks.

Further details will be announced at a later date, including an option for candidates to test the system in good time before the examination.

The EQE syllabus and the structure of the various examination papers will be as outlined in the REE and IPREE and in line with previous years' examination papers (Compendium).

For the time being, individual questions on the online examination will not be responded to directly. However, they will be collected and used as a basis for FAQs to be published at a later stage.
